THURSDAY TIDINGS.
A store room is being built onto the rear of Hayes' jewelry and music house. Elkhorn council No. 1794, R. A., will meet in the K. P. hall this evening at 8:30, sharp.
U. H. Tatman has resigned his position as clerk at the postoffice and has accepted a position at the sugar factory.
The ladies guild of Trinity church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Morrison. There is work to do and a good attendance is hoped for.
The band boys were out on the street this noon advertising their ball to be given tomorrow night. They paraded Main street and formed on each corner, playing some of their choice selections.
The Norfolk Journal changed hands today, the name, good will and business having been sold by P. F. Sprecher to W. N. Huse. Mr. Sprecher retains the printing material used in the publication of the Journal, but the office will be closed to business.

Herman Boche was in town this morning with a pair of young coons which he had captured when very small at his place on the Elkhorn river. The animals are now about half grown and as playful as kittens.

Dr. C. A. McKim of this city has been appointed a member of the board of censors of the Iowa-Nebraska State Veterinary Medical association which holds a session at Omaha Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Last night the thermometer indicated the lowest temperature of the present season and showed a desire to hover around near the zero mark. The minimum temperature of the past 24 hours was 10 degrees above zero.

Ray Hayes has decided to adopt the avocation of traveling man and has gone on the road in the interest of a loan and trust company of Des Moines, Iowa. He made his first trip this week, going east on the F. E. & M. V. road.

August Fischer, father of Ernest and Julius Fischer, died at 12:35 today at home of his son on Sixth street and Park avenue, aged 72 years. He had been sick but a short time. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Engineer Lowe is engaged today in locating the corners, establishing grades, etc., for the Bishop block at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. The excavating is about completed, the material on hand, and with favorable weather the building of the foundation will begin at once.

Yesterday afternoon the pupils of the Fourth and Fifth grades of the Lincoln school were taken with fits of sneezing that interrupted the usual proceedings of the school. A little girl had brought some snuff for her cold and in some manner it became distributed about the room, with the above result.

Manager Spear of the Auditorium spent yesterday billing Pierce, Plainview and Creighton for the Innes concert. He sold 90 tickets, conditional upon the negotiations for a special train up the Creighton line to take people home after the entertainment. The time for closing contract with Innes has been extended until the 20th, by which time Mr. Spear must have enough seats sold to cover the guarantee, or the date will be cancelled.

The Norfolk musicians are endeavoring to get their newly organized military band and orchestra on a permanent and independent basis without asking contributions from the citizens. With this object in view they propose to give the people the pleasure of a ball and ask in return a liberal patronage. The first public amusement under their direction will take place tomorrow night at the Marquardt hall and those who patronize them will undoubtedly receive good value for their money. They should be encouraged in their effort to build up a musical organization to fill the requirements of a city like Norfolk.

Silver City Times: The local newspaper should be found in every home. No children should grow up in ignorance who can be taught to appreciate the home press. It is said to be the stepping stone of intelligence in all those matters not to be learned in books. Give your children a foreign paper which contains not one word about any person, place or thing which they ever saw or perhaps ever heard of and how could you expect them to be interested? But let them have a home paper and read of people whom they meet and of places with which they are familiar and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every daily arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed and those children will read the papers all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in the knowledge of the world as it is today.

A Good Performance.
The Mallory Brothers Theater company was greeted with a well filled house when the curtain went up for the comedy drama, "His Excellency, the Governor" Wednesday evening. Chas. B. Archer always finds a welcome in Atlantic and his work gave further evidence that he is an actor of more than ordinary ability. The Mallory Brothers are fortunate in having Mr. Archer for their leading man as he is well known throughout the middle west and opera house managers are always anxious to secure return dates, which is the best of an actor's ability. The performance here was very acceptable, the parts well taken, the specialties amusing and every one was well pleased with the show. Baby Mallory should receive special mention as she is a clever little miss and made a bit with the audience.—Atlantic Ia. Messenger.

At the Auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 15, 16 and 17. Admission 25 and 35c. Children 15c. Saturday matinee admission 10c.

Everyone should drink Mellowrich coffee. It is without an equal.

Observation has established a universal idea that an eccentric and solemn manner are concomitants of musical genius. A look at Innes, the famous band master shatters that view. On the stage with baton in hand, his face has the expression of a man who thinks of nothing this side of the clouds. In the hotel lobby or around the banquet board he looks and acts and talks as if he never gave a thought to music.

Yet Innes has made such remarkable innovations in concert band music that hypocritical writers, who scorned any kind of band music as being without the pale of serious contemplation, have been forced to recognize and admire him. Innes and his band are coming here on Thursday evening, November 20th.

They have just finished a remarkably successful summer season at Atlantic City, where Innes owns an immense Auditorium named after himself. Scenes from grand operas by six splendid operatic singers, prominent among whom is Xenia, the great German tenor from Berlin, will be one of the features of the engagement.

Houses for sale. T. E. ODIORNS.

"The Black Hills, or Last Hunting Grounds of the Dakotas," is the title of a book which THE NEWS editor came into possession of this week, and opportunity will be offered our citizens for enjoying the same privilege, as an agent for its sale will begin canvassing this city and county for that purpose. We have had just time to give a glance over all the chapters comprising the contents of the volume, which contains over 700 large-sized pages, yet we are willing to speak of it in high terms as being a valuable and interesting book. It contains 100 or more illustrations, and these with the text afford the reader a clear and comprehensive insight into the history and development of that wonderful country known as the Black Hills. It is only about 25 years since the Hills began to make history, but the amount made in that time is large and important, almost beyond comprehension in significance and consequence. Its history cannot fail of awakening large interest in the minds of dwellers on this side of the wide range and great river dividing the two sections of the same commonwealth, especially now that they are becoming more closely identified in various ways. The author is Mrs. Annie D. Tallent, who, so far as is known, was the first white woman to found a home in the Black Hills. October 6, 1874, was the date of her setting forth on the pioneer pathway leading to the Black Hills and December 9, following, she arrived at what is now Sturgis, and there she has since resided. Her son R. E. Tallent, has arranged to solicit subscriptions for this entertaining and valuable work in Madison county and we are confident he will meet with much encouragement.
